

Remember

After you have obtained the Mutual Consent and all necessary permits, received any needed variance requests, and completed all of the work on your alteration, you must call the Alterations Division for a final inspection and to request reimbursement of unused Conformance Deposit.

It is your responsibility to follow the established guidelines, get the required permits, and select a contractor. Compliance with the Mutual's Governing Documents will prevent any unnecessary delays in your alteration, eliminate possible fines, and add to your enjoyment of living in your upgraded Unit.

No use of common area is allowed for any reason (See Land Use Policy); contractors may not stockpile or store materials or debris in common area. Hallways, walkways and pavement must be kept clean at all times.

Both the Mutual Consent and City permit must always be posted and visible in a window at your Unit during the course of construction of your alteration.

You must get a final inspection from the City. Following your final City inspection, you must call the Alterations Division to request a final inspection.

FAQs

When do I need a licensed contractor?

A licensed contractor is required for all alterations costing over $500.

How much does a Mutual Consent cost?

A copy of the Mutual's adopted fee sheet is available from the Division or on line at www.lagunawoodsvillage.com. Check with the City of Laguna Woods regarding their requirements and costs for permits.

If I have a City permit, do I need a Mutual Consent?

The City will not issue a permit until you have a Mutual Consent. You must have a Mutual Consent for all work in your Unit, regardless of a City Permit.

What changes can be made without a Mutual Consent or Variance Request?

Examples include replacement of interior carpet or flooring, painting the interior walls, and installation of bookshelves.

Why can't I have an alteration, room addition, etc., if others have it?

Past boards have granted variances that may not conform to today's building codes or Mutual standards. The Board encourages upgrades to your Unit. However, if the proposed alteration interferes with an affected Unit or does not meet current codes or standards, it will not be approved.

Who is responsible for my alteration after it is completed?

You are responsible for all alterations to your Unit, including maintenance and repair. When you sell your Unit, the responsibility is transferred to the new member.

When can I start the work?

Do not start any work (including demo work), until you first get the proper City permits and Mutual Consent for the alteration.

How do I remove asbestos-containing materials?

When Units were constructed, asbestos was used in common building materials. Should these materials be present, the Board will issue a Mutual Consent for demo when scraping acoustic ceilings, removing floor tile, or replacing drywall. You must also obtain a permit for the City and use a contractor that is certified for asbestos removal. You must follow proper protocol on the removal of asbestos-containing materials and once complete, provide test results proving that it is safe to occupy the Unit.

MEMBER GUIDELINES FOR ALTERATIONS

Alterations Made Easy; Members Start Here

Visit the Alterations Counter at the Laguna Woods Community Center where you will be given the required forms and information to start the Mutual Consent Alteration process on a Unit. Our helpful staff will inform you of all the necessary documentation, and inform you of any outstanding fines, fees or assessments that may need to be resolved before submitting an application.

Staff will do a preliminary review of the Member's application. They may require additional information, including a field investigation of your Unit, and/or give you Conditions of Approval. Once the application is deemed complete, and the proposal is compliant with the Governing Documents, including United Architectural Alteration Standards, fees and Conformance Deposit are collected and a Mutual Consent is issued.

Once the Mutual Consent is issued, Staff will mail and email to the last known mailing address and available neighbor's emails on file, a Neighbor Courtesy Notice of Alterations to inform them of the upcoming work. This Notice gives neighbors information on the improvements and policies regarding noise, parking, and the prohibition of dumping construction materials in the Community dumpsters.

Once the Alteration is complete, Staff will inspect the premises for consistency with the approval, standards, conditions and policy. They will also coordinate with the City to ensure the building permit has been signed off, if applicable. Staff will then issue the final certificate for the alteration.

Note: In the event the proposal doesn't meet Standards, a Variance is required. All of the above apply in the event of an Appeal or Variance Application in addition to the following, after the application is deemed complete, and fees and Conformance Deposit is collected; a Neighborhood Awareness Notice is sent to Affected Units inviting them to the Architecture Control and Standards Committee (ACSC) Open Session meeting or to provide written comment. After the ACSC review, the Committee's recommendation is forwarded to the Board for final action.

8 Tips for Working with a Contractor

1. Verify the contractor's license, insurance, and required state bond, at <http://www.cslb.ca.gov/> and click on "Consumer," or call the State Contractor's License Board at 1.800.321.2752
2. Before work begins, verify that your contractor has obtained the necessary permits, and that they are posted in the window of your Unit.
3. Make sure your contractor has a license, and always enter into a written contract for the improvements.
4. Deposits are often standard for construction projects, however never pay the full amount until the job is complete to your liking.
5. Smoking is prohibited by contractors and their workers outside of an enclosed unit. Make sure they know.
6. Unless loading or unloading equipment, contractors may only park on roads; not within parking lots, or cul-de-sacs.
7. Contractors doing any type of remodeling are prohibited from using the Community dumpsters for disposal of materials. They must either haul away their trash or use their own dumpster, if approved by the Board. Violations to this requirement may subject the Unit owner to fines.
8. Remember that the choice of a contractor is yours. The Mutual will not get involved in any disputes with your contractor. The agreement is a personal contract between you and your contractor.
